Chart 1 Headcount by Department

1. What is this chart trying to show?

① It shows the no of employees in different departments. Marketing has the highest headcount, while Sales has the lowest.

② What is wrong with the color choice?

① Different shades of blue are used without a clear meaning. It may confuse viewers & distract from comparing the values.

③ Propose a better color scheme:

Use the same blue color for all bars and different highlight color for the highest department, Marketing

Chart-2 : Rainfall (mm) by month

1. What is this chart trying to show?

① It shows the monthly rainfall from January to November. June has the highest rainfall, while February and July have the lowest.

② What is wrong with color choice?

① The rainbow colors are confusing and do not make comparison easy. The colors may distract viewers from the actual rainfall value.

③ Propose a better color scheme.

① Use a single hue color with different shades, where darker blue represents higher rainfall and lighter blue represents lower rainfall.
